
What might have happened?

"I hope they'll still let me register," cried Legs to herself.

She swung through the lower park gate. Was she too late? People were milling around. She recognised Spider, her friend, who was also running.

Legs ran right up to him. "Can I run?" she cried.

Imagine the answer was "Yes!"

Legs would have had to run the race after running to the hospital.

What might have happened?

Write your own ending.

A tilted notepad with a thick black border. The top two lines contain the text: "Can I run?" she cried. "Yes!" Spider replied. Below this are five blank horizontal lines for writing.

"Can I run?" she cried.
"Yes!" Spider replied.